

BIO31000/50000 Mammalogy Spring, 2011

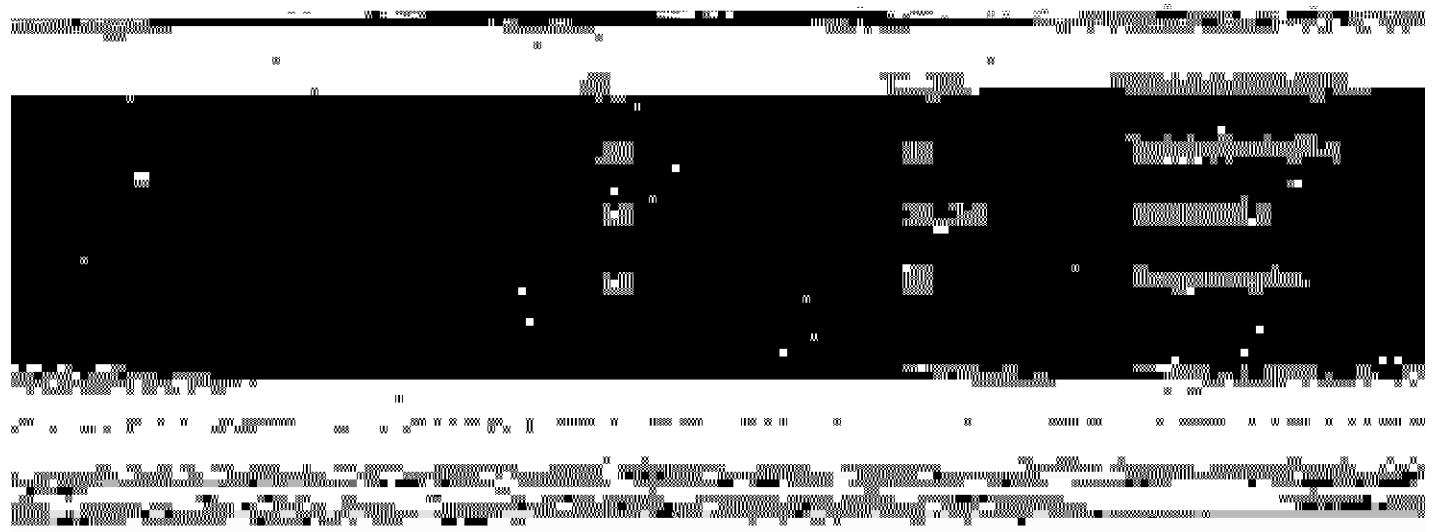

Dr. Brad Packer

Lectures: 11 MWF 10:00-10:50 AM

Office: 1107 Biol 4107 Biology Building
e-mail: bpacker@jhu.edu
15 E. Pauline Street, Homewood Office, Homewood, MD 21216
Office hours by appointment.

Education: University degree: M.D., Cornell University, Ithaca, NY, 2007. Mammalogy. Major in Anthropology and PD, Johns Hopkins Univ., Dept. of Biology, Baltimore, MD

Research interests: Mammalian ecology, behavior, and evolution. Primary research interest is the ecology and behavior of primates, particularly the great apes. Secondary research interests include the ecology and behavior of other mammals, including bats, lemurs, and carnivores.

Laboratory & Payroll

Digitized by Kirti Chandra Mohapatra at the Regional Reference Library, Bhubaneswar
Digitized by Kirti Chandra Mohapatra at the Regional Reference Library, Bhubaneswar

Date - Aug. 15/17

Page 2,4,5

- 22726

- 25707

1. skull, hair, external characters
2. vertebrae and sacrum

